Cahill Earns Repeat Recognition in GIR 100 2026

Date: 11/24/26

Cahill has once again been named to the Global Investigations Review (GIR) 100, GIR's annual list of the world's leading investigations practices.

Clients highlight the depth of Cahill's White Collar Defense and Investigations and Congressional Investigations teams, with one noting that it "stands out as having highly technical expertise and a breadth of experience in the industry." Another client called Edward O'Callaghan and James Mandolfo "brilliant, savvy, highly respected, and exceptionally well-connected lawyers."

Published each year, the GIR 100 identifies the foremost firms in corporate investigations around the world. GIR's editors select the firms based on their experience leading complex cross-border internal and government-led investigations.
