Thomas J. Kavalier is Senior Counsel in Cahill Gordon & Reindel LLP's litigation practice group.

Tom joined Cahill in 1975 after clerking for Judge Milton Pollack of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. He became a partner in 1980 and was elected as a Fellow of the International Academy of Trial Lawyers in 1996.

Tom has successfully litigated a variety of high-visibility matters for a roster of leading companies (and their boards, officers and directors) in virtually every major field, including financial services, entertainment, energy, telecommunications, publishing, professional services, insurance, food and agriculture, healthcare and heavy manufacturing.

His practice is as varied as his clientele, with a long track record of victories in commercial litigation, securities, class actions, insurance, intellectual property, antitrust, employment, tax, corporate governance, product liability, contracts and criminal law matters. Tom is recognized as one of the top 25 securities litigators in the U.S. by Benchmark Litigation and is recommended by Chambers USA and The Legal 500 in commercial litigation in New York. He is also listed in Who's Who in American Law and Who's Who in America. In 2023, Tom was inducted into Lawdragon's Hall of Fame, which recognizes lawyers "who have made a remarkable contribution to the profession."

Tom conducts jury trials, bench trials, appeals, commercial arbitrations (and other forms of A.D.R.), and administrative and investigatory proceedings throughout the United States. He has served as an arbitrator for the American Arbitration Association, National Association of Securities Dealers, Better Business Bureau, New York Supreme Court and United States District Court for the Southern District of New York.

Tom has litigated extensively on behalf of Wall Street's largest brokerage firms and their senior officers. He has represented Prudential Securities in several hundred matters, including one that resulted in a landmark decision from the Second Circuit that made new law on issues relating to the bonding requirement for a preliminary injunction. His work for Prudential and others has included the defense of dozens of employment disputes and arbitrations, often arising from disputes wherein claimants allege wrongful discharge, statutory violations, breach of contract and/or promissory estoppel.

SELECTED MATTERS

- Tried to verdict (as lead trial counsel) a multi-week jury trial in a federal securities fraud class action.
- Defended a former SEC chairman in litigation arising out of the numerous investigations into the affairs of Hollinger International.
- Won dismissal in malpractice action seeking $104 million against an international AmLaw 100 law firm.
- Lead defense counsel for one of the nation's largest providers of consumer loans and credit cards in a private treble damages antitrust action targeting client and other issuers of MasterCard and Visa cards. Also lead counsel for this same client and several of its senior officers in a federal securities class action.

- Co-lead counsel to the largest commercial and residential roofing manufacturer in the United States in a RICO, antitrust and tort action against three plaintiffs' law firms, arising from allegations of systemic misconduct in their handling of asbestos litigation.
 - Lead defense counsel for officers and directors of a leading provider of investment, insurance and banking business process outsourcing services in consolidated securities class and derivative litigation arising from an income restatement.
 - Won a jury verdict for a major accounting firm sued for discrimination by a former partner.
