New York, NY 10005

Adam Dworkin is a member of Cahill's Executive Committee and Co-Chair of the firm's Corporate Department.

He focuses his practice in leveraged finance, representing arrangers and other lenders in bank financings and high-yield offerings in the context of acquisitions, recapitalizations, refinancings, and restructurings.

Adam has over 30 years of experience advising commercial and investment banks and private credit lenders in leveraged finance, including in acquisition financings, leveraged buyouts, going-private transactions, recapitalizations, bridge lending and loan commitments, out-of-court debt restructurings, and other secured and unsecured lending transactions. He has worked on some of the largest and most complex leveraged finance transactions, including Dell's acquisition of EMC and the LBO of HCA.

Adam also represents several companies as borrowers under secured credit facilities and as issuers of high-yield bonds. He practices in a variety of industries including technology, communications, pharmaceuticals, manufacturing, media, retail, financial institutions and transportation.

"Adam always approaches deals with a client mindset and understands how to protect client interests while advancing their long term commercial interests." – Chambers USA

Adam has consistently been ranked for New York Banking & Finance by Chambers USA, with clients noting that he is "fantastic," "highly constructive and efficient," and "very knowledgeable with regards to leveraged finance." Adam is also recognized as a leading banking and finance lawyer by Chambers Global, The Legal 500, IFLR1000, and Lawdragon's 500 Leading Dealmakers in America guide.
