Joel Kurtzberg, Co-Chair of Cahill’s First Amendment & Media Litigation practice group and Chair of Cahill’s Technology, Data Breach, and Privacy Litigation practice group, focuses his practice on general commercial litigation with extensive experience in First Amendment/media law, privacy, insurance/reinsurance, securities law, and antitrust.

Joel frequently appears on behalf of newspapers, broadcasters, journalists, social media companies, technology companies, and others on First Amendment issues and other constitutional matters but has just as regularly appeared on behalf of insurance companies in large coverage and reinsurance disputes and leading companies (and their officers and directors) in securities, antitrust, data breach, patent, employment, and other commercial and intellectual property disputes.

“Joel is a meticulous, careful, and thorough litigator. He takes a collaborative approach to each case, which keeps clients informed and reassured. There is no one else I’d want in a First Amendment case.” – Chambers USA

Joel’s legal work has been recognized by the Financial Times, Law360, Crain’s New York Business, Forbes, and the National Law Journal as being both innovative and effective. In 2025, Joel was named a finalist for the Financial Times’ Innovative Practitioner Award and named a Law360 MVP in the Technology category, for his creative application of First Amendment principles to the challenges faced by technology companies. Also in 2025, he was named to Forbes’ inaugural Best-In-State Lawyers list for his work as a commercial litigator. The list identifies the top 36 lawyers in New York State who are considered most preeminent in their specialty. Crain’s New York Business in 2025 named him in its first-ever Notable Litigators & Trial Attorneys list, which recognizes the distinguished efforts of lawyers who continuously shape significant legal precedent and zealously advocate for their clients. In 2016, Joel’s work in the closely-watched case Amarin Pharma Inc., et al. v. Food and Drug Administration, et al. led the Financial Times to rank Cahill as a “Standout” firm in the Changing and Influencing Regulation category of its North American Innovative Lawyers Awards. In 2020, The National Law Journal recognized him as a Political Activism/First Amendment Rights Trailblazer, an honor awarded to legal professionals who have “moved the needle” and made a significant mark on legal practice by using litigation to bring about political change and further First Amendment rights. In 2015, The National Law Journal named Joel to its “Litigation Trailblazers” list, which recognizes fifty top legal professionals in the United States who have changed the practice of litigation through the use of innovative legal strategies.

Joel is ranked in Band 1 for Media & Entertainment: First Amendment Litigation in the New York region by Chambers USA, where clients note “he is wise, superbly trained, and a strategic advocate” who possesses the “ability to react swiftly to the fast-paced nature of media law issues.” Clients also highlight Joel’s strong writing skills (“an excellent writer ... his briefs are top-notch”) and subject matter expertise (“his prowess in this dynamic field is exceptional”) and appreciate his dedicated approach to client service, which “is marked by an unparalleled responsiveness, ensuring that clients are never left waiting for updates or guidance no matter the complexity of the case.” “His attention to detail is second to none. He is very tactical and methodical in his work.”

Joel has also been ranked by Media Law International as a Leading Lawyer in both 2025 and 2026, which is a designation given to the top ten First Amendment litigators in the country. Joel has been recognized as a Local Litigation Star by Benchmark Litigation and as “Lawyer of the Year” several times by Best Lawyers for his work in Litigation - First Amendment Law in New York City – an honor bestowed upon a single First Amendment practitioner in New York City each year. In 2020, the National Press Photographers Association named Joel a recipient of the Alicia Calzada First Amendment Award, in recognition of his work on behalf of photojournalist Jason Nicholas in Nicholas v. Bratton. This award from the NPPA recognizes those who have worked to promote and advance the First Amendment, especially as it relates to visual journalists. The Legal 500 also recommends Joel as one of the leading commercial and antitrust class action litigators in the country, and Super Lawyers ranks him as one of New York's top business litigators.

Joel has been an Adjunct Professor at Brooklyn Law School, where he has taught a class about Mass Media Law. He has also been an Adjunct Professor at Fordham University School of Law, where he has co-taught a class about Internet Law that focuses on First Amendment, intellectual property, and privacy issues in cyberspace.
