

Ted Lacey Speaks at Harvard Law School's Panel Discussion on Law and the Olympics

Friday, October 2, 2015 3:45 PM to 5:15 PM

External Link: Law and the Olympics

Ted Lacey served as a panelist on the Committee on Sports and Entertainment Law's panel discussion entitled "Law and the Olympics" at Harvard Law School. The panel discussion covered various legal components of the 2016 Olympic Games. Ted was joined by John Grady, professor at University of South Carolina School of Law; Paul Greene of Global Sports Advocates; and Cameron Myler, former Olympian in luge and professor at New York University.

Attorney

- Ted B. Lacey