

Chérie Kiser Presents Women in Bio Webinar

Thursday, February 21, 2019 5:00 PM to 6:00 PM

On Thursday, February 21, 2019, Chérie Kiser presented a Women in Bio Webinar titled "Artificial Intelligence and Telehealth to Improve Patient Outcomes." The healthcare technology model historically has emphasized broadband connectivity at and between brick-and-mortar healthcare facilities. This presentation discussed how the technology and the legal framework underlying it are shifting to support telehealth services and other digital health tools and tasks assisted by AI technology and expanded broadband deployment. It addressed the legal and technological obstacles facing these developments and how they may be overcome. And it discussed examples of AI and telehealth operations delivering improved patient outcomes today and anticipated in the near future.
