Lauren Rackow spoke at the American Bar Association's 67th Annual Antitrust Spring Meeting on the panel, Microscope on Pharma Mergers: Enforcement Cadence Revealed. The panel discussed how pharma mergers are at the top of the antitrust enforcement agenda worldwide from mega-deals, to acquisitions of nascent competitors, to international aspects. Implications of FTC v. Mallinckrodt, divestiture sufficiency, the FTC's Merger Remedies report, and comparative issues, such as mandatory notification of pre-marketed products in Germany, can make the difference in getting your deal cleared. Lauren was joined by speakers John Boyce of Slaughter & May, Cristina Caffarra of Charles River Associates and Kari Wallace of Federal Trade Commission.
