
Sam Enzer to Host PLI's "DeFi: The Next Frontier for Crypto Enforcement" CLE Briefing

Tuesday, January 30, 2024 6:00 PM to Thursday, January 1, 1970 12:00 AM

On January 30, partner and chair of Cahill's Cryptocurrency & FinTech practice Sam Enzer will host "DeFi: The Next Frontier for Crypto Enforcement," presented by the Practising Law Institute (PLI). Sam will be joined by esteemed panelists Laura Brookover, Senior Corporate Counsel and Head of Litigation & Investigations at Consensys; Neel Chopra, Head of Regulatory, Investigations & Litigation (Americas) at Binance; Purvi R. Maniar, Deputy General Counsel at FalconX; and Andrew Siegel, General Counsel & Chief Compliance Officer at Galaxy Digital LP.

In the last year, we have seen increased regulatory enforcement issues relating to the emergence of decentralized finance (DeFi), specifically in the wake of the recent crackdown from the DOJ, SEC and CFTC on centralized crypto exchanges. During the session, faculty will discuss the leading regulatory issues related to the emergence of DeFi, including what has happened and what is coming down the pike in terms of regulation and enforcement. The Briefing will focus on the following topics, among others:

- The current DeFi ecosystem
- How U.S. regulations map onto DeFi
- U.S. regulatory enforcement trends in the DeFi space
- The impact of recent U.S. enforcement actions on the DeFi ecosystem
