

Cahill Named as a Finalist for Diversity Award by Bank of America

Date: 05/09/14

Cahill Gordon & Reindel LLP has been named by Bank of America as one of six finalist law firms eligible to receive the Bank's diversity and inclusion award. Nearly 200 law firms that regularly do work for the Bank were considered for this award, with the finalists being selected by the Bank's Diversity and Inclusion Business Council (DIBC). In making its decision, the DIBC took into consideration a number of factors, including diversity statistics, internal commitment to diversity and inclusion and firms' external outreach to the community, affinity groups and partnership with Bank of America on diversity programs.
