

Sean Tonolli Named DC Rising Star by The National Law Journal

Date: 07/24/19

Cahill partner Sean Tonolli was selected by The National Law Journal as a DC Rising Star. The award recognizes 40 honorees in a cross-section of practice areas that excel in their field of work.

Sean is a former federal prosecutor with extensive investigative and first-chair trial experience. He is a respected litigator in the industry and his practice focuses on white-collar criminal defense, government enforcement, internal investigations, compliance assessments and diligence, and securities and commercial litigation.