Cahill's Technology IP Litigation practice brings together a deep bench of market leading plaintiff-side first-chair trial lawyers who, time and again, win high-stakes and high-value litigation on behalf of their clients. Our team is deeply valued by clients for its commitment and dedication to providing broader counsel to protect client innovations and enforce client interests outside of the courtroom.

Our clients range from emerging start-ups to established global companies, from universities to private equity portfolio companies, as they strive to solve seemingly intractable challenges through the creative and groundbreaking application of technological innovation.

Our team handles matters across a diverse range of technology and tech-enabled industries, including computer systems and software, semiconductors, cybersecurity, telecommunications, mobile technology, electronics, consumer products, mechanical devices, and oil and gas. We cultivate a resource ecosystem that develops and analyzes cases and otherwise supports our clients' objectives. We focus on providing attractive alternative fee structures to stakeholders, who frequently face pressure to deliver returns on valuable legal claims while minimizing legal spend, including universities and private equity portfolio companies, among others.
