
Corporate Advisory

As regular outside counsel to a diverse group of public and private companies, Cahill provides advice on corporate transactions, Securities and Exchange Commission filings and other disclosure requirements, corporate governance, regulatory compliance and planning, executive compensation and other legal issues in all aspects of our clients' businesses. We also advise boards of directors and their special committees, as well as individual directors and officers, in connection with significant corporate governance matters and crisis management challenges and in corporate investigations. We are often called upon to assist clients with particularly sensitive matters involving accounting, conflicts of interest, employee, director and management responsibilities and business practices.