Geoffrey E. Liebmann is a member of Cahill Gordon & Reindel LLP's corporate practice group and serves on Cahill's Publications Committee.

Geoff's practice is principally focused on corporate finance and general corporate representation, and his clients include private and public companies, including start-ups, charitable organizations, and financing sources. Geoff's corporate finance experience includes mezzanine financings, public and private high-yield and investment grade bond offerings, secured lending transactions, IPOs, follow-on equity offerings, preferred and convertible securities offerings, and restructurings.

In his general corporate practice, Geoff has extensive experience in a variety of areas, including start-up formation and financing, corporate governance, employee equity incentives, securities exchange listing requirements and delisting procedures, ongoing SEC reporting and disclosure obligations, Sarbanes-Oxley and other compliance programs, strategic planning, and related matters. He has over 30 years of experience practicing in life sciences and various other technology industries handling a wide range of transactions, including private and public financings, royalty-based financings, intellectual property licensing, research and development collaborations, commercialization agreements, asset sales, and acquisitions.

Geoff has practiced at Cahill since his graduation from the University of Chicago Law School. He became partner in 1995 and senior counsel in 2024.
