

Becoming a Capital Markets Lawyer- The View from Cahill

Date: 06/18/18

Chambers Associate interviewed Cahill partner, Jennifer Ezring and associates, Ani Ravi and Sarah Walton to learn more about the exciting and fast-paced world of a capital markets lawyer at Cahill. In this article, they discuss the various areas that influence the life of a capital markets lawyer including, the varying markets trends, the highs and low of the practice, the different types of work done by associates and partners and the necessary collaboration with attorneys in other practice areas. They also recommend different courses that a law school student should consider taking to develop a better comprehension of the capital markets practice.

External Link: Becoming a Capital Markets Lawyer- The View from Cahill

Attorneys

- Jennifer B. Ezring
- Ani Ravi

CAHILL GORDON & REINDEL LLP