
Helene Banks, Brock Bosson, and Jennifer Potts Publish “ESG in Due Diligence Is Not Just Another Box to Check” in The Deal

Date: 10/05/21

With ESG now a day-to-day focus for management and directors across industries, companies would be well-served to undertake a thoughtful assessment of ESG risks when evaluating potential targets in M&A activities. In a new article for The Deal, partners Helene Banks and Brock Bosson, and associate Jennifer Potts provide a practical roadmap for incorporating environmental, social and governance issues into M&A due diligence, consistent with the growing expectations of investors, customers, and other stakeholders.
