

Joel H. Levitin Publishes "Opportunities for Lenders in Financing Bankruptcy Acquisitions" in the New York Law Journal

Date: 06/06/22

With rising interest rates, global strife, and pandemic-related micro-economic forces, bankruptcy filings will inevitably increase with continued strain on the global economy and individual businesses. As a result, buyers and private equity sponsors find themselves in a strategic opportunity to purchase distressed businesses out of bankruptcy and increase bankruptcy M&A activity. In a new article for the New York Law Journal's Corporate Restructuring & Bankruptcy Special Report, partner Joel Levitin provides recommendations for lenders to take advantage of the increased opportunities to finance bankruptcy sales while minimizing risks and complications.
